

New York Stock Market

New York, March 13.—To the casual observer to-day's stock market seemed to derive a great deal of its early activity and strength from abroad. The English market sent over a decidedly higher list of prices for its securities, and followed this with considerable buying here. The improvement in British sentiment seemed to have its foundation largely in the belief that the crisis in the coal strike is passing. American Sugar advanced four points and International Harvester three. Concerning the former, the company made a radical departure from its custom by publishing a detailed statement of its operations for 1911. This exhibit showed profits exceeding $14,000,000, compared with $8,000,000 in the preceding year. Officials of the company also expressed optimism regarding the outcome of the government suit now pending. As for Harvester, it is now believed to be a foregone conclusion that the company's assets are sufficient to satisfy the government. It is now believed to be a foregone conclusion that the company's assets are sufficient to satisfy the government. It is now believed to be a foregone conclusion that the company's assets are sufficient to satisfy the government.

Early sales in American Telephone and Telegraph and Western Union were checked on publication of estimated earnings of the latter for the first quarter of the current year, which indicate a falling off compared with the past three years, and make prospects of an increase in the dividend doubtful. Conditions in the domestic labor situation were bettered by the acceptance by the Lawrence mill workers of the terms offered by the employers. This was partly nullified by the formal reply of the committee on the part of the miners, which, while conciliatory in tone, constituted a general refusal of all demands. It had the effect of giving pause to the market in the last hour, which was quite the dulcetest of the session, and was marked by such contrary movements as a rise of four points in Central Leather preferred and a fall of seven in American Tobacco. Final dealings reflected weakness in the speculative leaders, Steel and Union Pacific losing under the effect upon independent concerns was furnished by the Sloss-Sheffield Company, which showed a decrease of almost $500,000 in gross for 7th fiscal year and suffered a deficit of $6,000,000 after payment of preferred dividends.

Bonds were active, with few price changes. Total sales, par value, aggregated, $2,369,000. United States government's were unchanged on call. REFERENCE WORK FOR EVERYBODY

It Consists of a Complete Set of Books for Less Than the Price of One Volume. AN EXTRAORDINARY OFFER. The Work is Profuse With Magnificent Illustrations in Colors. For many years there has been an urgent need for a convenient work of reference. Every publisher who has issued a Cyclopaedia has seemed to have a desire to make it as large as possible without regard to convenience, and what is more, the object seems to have been to incorporate as many words as possible in order to fill space and thus increase the size of the volume. So, while there are many books of this nature on the market, they do not meet the requirements of the general public for the reason that they are all too large and unwieldy.

Taking all of this into consideration, the publishers of Everybody's Cyclopaedia have just issued this complete work in one set of five volumes, not only of convenient and usable size in dimensions, but also in price. The whole idea of giving the reader just the information wanted on every subject in a simple, straightforward manner that is easily and quickly comprehended.

The Times-Dispatch has been chosen as the one paper in this country to present this set of books to its readers on the popular coupon plan explained elsewhere in this issue. Before the publishers start a house-to-house canvass at the first price.

This is called the "featherweight" edition, as it was necessary to use a special grade of lightweight paper in order to maintain the convenient size of the volumes. It comprises 55,000 subjects in all departments of knowledge, including biographical sketches, chronological history and educational data from all sources throughout the entire world. Its five volumes are filled with interesting information for all classes, and as its name implies, Everybody's Cyclopaedia represents an equivalent of a valuable library of modern reference works and text-books for everybody.

Accurately compiled from the latest and best recognized sources of authority, Everybody's Cyclopaedia, while dealing with every branch of existing knowledge, introduces a special feature of new subjects, covering all recent advances in the progress of the world, right up to the date of publication. This "new knowledge" is a special feature of Everybody's Cyclopaedia, not to be found in the older encyclopedic works of reference. It represents a new and valuable principle of the card-index, and by adopting modern methods of organization, it makes the production of the reverse of the laborious old-time principles, which made all previous encyclopedias antiquated before they were completed.

As the various sections are conveniently arranged for quick reference under one alphabetical order, page numbers are not needed for purposes of reference. This allows the alteration or revision of any page, and the addition of a fresh page or more at any point, as one inserts a new title in a card catalogue or index without interfering with what precedes or follows. During the long and expensive period of careful compilation and editing, the continual addition of "new knowledge" in this way has kept the work abreast of the time, and this plan of superlative advantage to editors, students and readers, renders Everybody's Cyclopaedia unique among reference works, as containing the latest knowledge, the facts of recent days, of the world's progress during the year just passing, which workers and students frequently have greater need to refer to than the knowledge of all previous days.

As previously mentioned, advance complimentary sets are offered by The Times-Dispatch on the popular coupon plan. Read the offer on another page of this issue and clip the coupon without further delay.
